Master of Arts - Interactive Design and Video Game Development

Received the Award for Academic Achievement for finishing at the top of my class.

Oglethorpe University

1996 - 2001

Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Studies - Communications

Fandomania.com

2009 - Present

Contributing Writer

I write articles and reviews for Fandomania covering anything from gaming to movies and books. I also was responsible for the creation of two recurring articles: Flashbang, which covers the world of Flash gaming on the internet and 5x5 which gives reviews on a certain subject including five favorable reviews and 5 non-favorable.

Dr. J Richard Collins Orthodontics

2006 - Present

Records and Graphic Designer

I take all X-Rays and photographs of new and old patients. I design letterhead, logos, websites, t-shirts, and business cards. I also work at the front desk, meeting with incoming patients and answering phones to schedule appointments and address problems or issues that arise.

One3 Creative

2005

Graphic Designer

I worked as a graphic and web designer, overseeing the company's largest client account. I was the account's exclusive designer. I also answered the phones and consulted new clients to direct them in the proper direction to get their work completed quickly and accurately.

Clear Channel Communications, Savannah GA

2002 - 2005

Promotions and Production Assistant

While with Clear Channel I handled a variety of tasks for six different radio stations. I oversaw promotional events, working with on-site clients and meeting with listeners. I also set up and removed promotional and technical equipment for these events. I worked in studio for remote broadcasts and oversaw the production and airing of sporting events for one of the stations. I also managed weekend programming for an adult-contemporary radio station.

STATEMENT

I enjoy design of all kinds, including web, print, and conceptual. My real love is creating a way to convey a story or idea in a given medium, especially in writing and gaming. The perfect job for me would be one that allowed me to be creative every day and presented the opportunity to work in a team of other creative individuals.
